

Broken Hearts

My heart is broken these days, at the jaw-dropping evil we have witnessed in the Middle East, and especially in Israel. As you probably know, Israel was attacked, even invaded, by hundreds of terrorists belonging to the Hamas terrorist group, along with several other affiliated groups. About 1200 Israelis going about their lives on an early Sabbath morning were suddenly overcome by these hordes of demon-possessed monsters and murdered, burnt alive, beheaded, with many kidnapped to Gaza, some dead already, most still alive, to be used as bargaining chips to keep Israel at bay. Hamas is aware how deeply committed Israel is to caring about their citizens – Israelis – whether Jewish or Bedouin or Arab or any other – which includes caring that each one is returned home no matter whether alive or dead.

Among those kidnapped alive were the entire Bibas family. Dad was held in one place, and Mom and the two very young boys were held in another. Their fiery red hair and angelic countenances were so noticeable as to make them into an icon of sorts, so that many of us across the globe zeroed in on these two boys as we tracked the fate of the Israeli hostages.

In the beginning, there were over 200 hostages transported to Gaza. In the end, many returned home in a coffin, including these three, the boys and their mother. Dad had been released a couple of weeks before, to find himself with no family. Hopefully he finds some comfort in the hope of the Lord, that his family is with God now, free from the bonds of this painful world.

Israel has had to fight this nasty war for over 500 days, well over a year. Israelis did nothing to provoke the war except to exist. They could have conducted the war in a much shorter window of time, with less death and destruction, if they had not been hampered by the leftists in control of the American government, one of whom was a demented, senile old man incapable of making significant decisions. He and his handlers withheld much needed weaponry and assistance from Israel unless Israel slow-walked the war according to instructions of those who actively detest Israel.

The American "aid" was metered out to Israel in such a way as to provide maximum protection for Israel's enemies, Hamas and later Hezbollah in Lebanon.

Mercifully, for the United States, for Israel, and really for the entire world, God put in place Donald Trump as President of the United States. Because of his common-sense vision of what is right to do, and his single-minded purposefulness in doing it, we are all much better off than we were under Dementia Joe and the rest of the George Soros acolytes. Israel's shackles have been cut, and its heroic Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu can work with a man of like mind and spirit instead of an apostle of Evil. President Trump has promptly shipped the armaments that Israel had already paid for so that it can do what is needed to protect the citizens. Trump also shocked the whole world with his creative ideas about relocating the spiritually poisoned population of Gaza and Judea and Samaria (aka West Bank) into new areas where they themselves can live more peaceful lives and Israelis don't have to live in constant fear of a bomb dropping on their heads. Wonderful idea! I love unconventional thinking. It often produces great ideas that provide previously unimagined solutions to knotty problems.

So as we weep for the personal and national pain of Israelis, we rejoice for the reprieve God has granted this country in the form of a whole new government that is busy cleaning house, removing human vermin who have been bleeding us dry, and chasing down corruption that has been choking this country with its stench. The whole world is benefitting from the blessings of a strong leader who clearly states what is needed to keep good relationships and cooperate together for the good of all.

Do I think all is now well with the world? NO! We have a limited time of relief from the growing moral and spiritual evil that has entangled us, but we have big decisions to make personally. Will we heed God's challenge to surrender our lives to Him in commitment and obedience? Will we do what we can to spread His message of life to any- and everyone we can? Will we pray that every last soul whose name is written in God's book of life come to know Him and give their lives to Him also? (Revelation 20:15, 21:27)

Only then can we be truly happy and joyous, when we are freed from the earthly bonds that hold us, so that we ourselves can be with our Father forever.

Horrific and barbaric. If Hamas ever invaded the U.S. and kidnapped and killed American toddlers, we would never stop hunting them down.

And yet the world acts baffled that Israel went to war over this.

New York Post @nypost

Hamas says Kfir Bibas and Ariel, 2 and 5, and their mom are dead, and their bodies will be sent back to Israel this week
